Almost a quarter of a century has passed since USECO published its first school annual. As we review those pages of yesteryear, a pleasant thought comes to mind—on some tomorrow this, the nineteen hundred and fifty-six edition, will take its place in your heart as a pictorial history of the "good ole' days."

We know this book will increase in value with the passing of each year, and are honored to have played a part in recording it.

By Far the Greatest Name in Yearbooks

UNIVERSITY SUPPLY and EQUIPMENT CO.

To Whom It May Concern:

We, the members of the 10th grade, residing in "Alkatraz", and nearing a state of desperation; being at least partially sound of mind, and having good, though short memories, do declare this to be our last will and testament, and do transmit the following real and imaginary properties to all persons stated herein.

I, Dale Despain, do bequeath my ability to get Analee all flustered to Coleman, he just might want it some day. I leave my good looks and even temper to Fred, even though he already has the same. My love for typing to Joana, and my hidden genious for poetry to anyone who can find it.

I, Lamon Wimmer, do transmit my morning lateness to Leroy, as if he needed it. My left handed hook shot to Boyd, I leave my grin to Mr. Skinner, and what is left of my hair oil to Edna Faye, she'll probably get it anyway.

I, Lanell Perkins, do leave my false teeth to Mr. Payne, in case he loses his. I leave my backbend to Lorna, and my little black book of sailor's addresses to the highest bidder.

I, Wilma Wilkinson, give with regret, my levis to Emma Jean, in case hers get dirty. I give my glasses to Sandra, and my ability to argue before I know what I am arguing about to Gwenda Lyn, as if she needed it.

I, Doris Hansen, leave my ability to keep hooked, to Lyn. Looks as if she is doing pretty well without it. On second thought, I just might keep it. I leave my ability to get history in biology class without being discovered to Joan, she'll need it.

I, Analee Westover, leave my 80 word a minute typing record to Anona so she won't have to work so hard next year. My earrings to Brent, he has always had a passion for them. My ability to keep shorter than the boys to Rose Ann.

We, the girls of the 10th grade, bequeath, with no regrets, our thousand word themes to the next year's girls P. E. class.

We, the boys of the 10th grade, bequeath the annual "staff dummy" to Floyd and Maurice in case they have to make the annual next year, they won't have to work so hard.

We, the 10th grade, leave our desks, classroom, blackboards, and teachers to the succeeding classes, if they want them. (Our books can be had for a small extra charge.) We all leave with surprise.
